The Power of Purpose

Where there is a sense of purpose there is a sense of optimism, resilience and hope. As the journey of life unfolds for our recent college graduates, it is exciting to see the choices they make as they enter the work force. Three of our young ladies have chosen to work in place that provides what they were given - a home.

Bheemamma, Maheshwari and Jhyothi are now fully employed at the Agape AIDS Orphan Care Home. This organization recently celebrated 20 years of providing a home for AIDS orphans in Hyderabad.

A profoundly proud moment for us to see our girls find their purpose in a place that changes lives in such a powerful and lasting way. Jyothi is now an Assistant Warden - a home parent. Bheemamma and Maheshwari are Auxiliary Nurses, responsible for the healthcare in the home including hospital visit's and doctor appointments for 250-plus children. They have settled into their new positions with pride and joy.

"I feel so blessed for this opportunity to be serving kids like me," says Maheshwari.

"I am so happy with my job. It is challenging and sometimes difficult, but I really enjoy spending time with the kids," says Jyothi.

Bheema said, "There is a kind of satisfaction that I am serving children who have the same thing as me."

New Year - Renewed Goals!

For better or worse, New Year's brings up "resolutions." Reflecting on the past year with the confidence we need to build on our successes, new beginnings and commitments, we are focused on sustainable outcomes. Education remains our primary goal. A good education is the bedrock for the future. We continue to engage with our graduates, including our moms and their kids. Such a beautiful thing to see brothers and sisters showing up to babysit.

Spring time is exam time for everyone. These next two months, classroom time will wrap up providing the necessary resources and space to prepare for year-end exams. This is an important part of education in India and will determine future placement in higher education programs. Preparing great meal plans is essential to stay healthy and focused. Each student has a set time in the kitchen helping with meals, another skill set they will take into their adult life.

Consider a Monthly Sponsorship

Sustainable giving in the form of a monthly sponsorship provides stability. For just $49 a month, you can sponsor one of our kids and help us meet the needs required to maintain a quality education. This monthly support helps pay for a monthly metro pass, school supplies, tuition and more. Priyanka is currently enrolled at St. Pious Junior College working toward a bachelor degree in Economics.
